We let our clients do the talking...

"InTechnology seamlessly combine exceptional account management with professional IT engineering and top quality project management to deliver world class networking services for McDonald's UK. No challenge is too great, no detail too small, and the solution is always outstanding."

"McDonald's regional UK network, managed by InTechnology, covers 5 major office locations and 25 small training rooms and mini-offices, and gives us greatly improved stability, resilience and capacity than our previous solution, and at a lower cost!. InTechnology designed and implemented an MPLS based solution for us with ability to increase bandwidth with a phone call up to a gigabit in many locations, for a network that is critical for the smooth running of a geographically diverse company. This has made High Definition video conferencing available across the estate on a network that has seen 99.99%+ availability over the last 12 months. I would highly recommend InTechnology to any business seeking professional, high quality IT services."
